D. This passage describes a terrifying dinosaur that is being tracked down by hunters who have travelled back in time.

It came on great oiled, resilient, striding legs. It towered thirty feet above half of the trees, a great evil god, folding its delicate watchmaker's claws close to its oily reptilian chest. Each lower leg was a piston, a thousand pounds of white bone, sunk in thick ropes of muscle, sheathed over in a gleam of pebbled skin like the mail of a terrible warrior. And the head itself, a ton of sculptured stone, lifted easily upon the sky. Its mouth gaped, exposing a fence of teeth like daggers. Its eyes rolled, ostrich eggs, empty of an expression save hunger. It closed its mouth in a death grin. It ran with a gliding ballet step, far too poised and balanced for its ten tons. From A Sound of Thunder by Ray Bradbury.
